Hi,

I'm thinking about making a website that sale books online. Simply to say, it's an Online bookstore.

Hi Mingmin, I like this idea. Any thoughts about what we should include?

Sorry for the late response. I'm on board with the bookstore idea. Just let me know how I can help. I have work from Friday to Sunday but I'm free the rest of the time aside from another class.

Hi

I built a structure for our website.

Header (dynamaic background, utility bar, global search,	Sign in or create an account wish list, cart, orders,payment categories)	(use database to store users' information)

Section 1. recommend (big picture, use table or slick slide)	Top 10 of bestsellers All Teens 1 1
Section 2 New Releases (show book images, prices, reviews)	2. 2. 3. 3.
Section 3 Popular Authors (show authors' images, introduction and his works)	… … 10. 10 History Fiction
Section 4 Sales	1. 1. … …
Section 5 Coming Soon	10 10.
Footer (Service, quick help, about us)	Feedback (use database to store users' information)

After determining the css style and basic things, I think each of us can choose one or two parts to work on. I'd like to design header.

I'm working on a quick draft now. Should have it posted in the files page soon. It wont be too fancy now, just an html and css file but we can change anything as needed.

Hello everybody. Sorry I am late to the group chat. I would like to suggest that we have a group leader to help keep us on track and to prevent members from doing work that someone else is working on. I think somebody that has some experience besides this class would be a good fit. Version control, Ideas, and a fair work load are all things that will become important very soon. Any volunteers?

Tanner Chilson

Sep 29, 2020

Im not really interested in leading, so if anyone else wants it, go for it. So far from what I know, Mingmin made the original model and wanted to work on the header, I made a basic draft of the site in a html & css file but that can be changes to php if that's needed for tables. I've been looking up books/authors/etc for a while now for the site to use.

I camp up with the idea and expanded it but I have no experience as a leader. I want to be the leader this time. If I have made any improper decisions, you can put forward your ideas. I hope everyone will get involved in the project and work together to make a fancy website.

I support you Mingmin. You already took charge anyway. You came up with the ideas, had a rough idea of the layout and came up with and divided tasks for the group members to complete. I think your doing a great job so far.

Hey guys, I found a bunch of books to put on the site. The info I put together includes each book's author, title, the genres they belong to, and their cost. I'm keeping a regular text file of the info on canvas for when we decide how to display it on the site, it's the same file I attached to this post. Feel free to add to/edit the list if you have any ideas for it. I also added an images file with pictures of each of the book's covers and a couple of the authors I listed.

Hi guys!

I updated the website.(see Files->Update Pro)

I also divided the project into tasks.

1.Header
2.Recommend&footer
3.New Releases&Top 10
4.Popular authors&author list
5.Sales&Coming soon
6.Two Forms
Each of us should pick one to work on.

If you have any suggestions, we can discuss together.
Thanks.

Hey guys, just giving a quick update on my end. Authors section is almost done, should have it up by tomorrow morning at the latest.

Might not be able to do a whole lot over the weekend due to work, but I'll be free Monday after class, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Also has anyone heard from the other two members of our group?

I uploaded the site with the authors sections, it's new newest Final Project file with the authors note added to it. I didn't quite understand how to set up the menu like the given picture, but hopefully what I came up with works just as well. I can add more details to the introductions/works of each author later if needed.

I uploaded the new releases and top 10 section of our page. I decided to go with only the overall top 10 as adding the other top 10s made my section rather large. I thought that with so many other section to be completed, this would make our page overly large. I also went with five new releases for the same reason.

Hey guys,

I tried combining what everyone has right now and build a rough template for SALES section that matches the similar styles within NEW RELEASES section

I have to clean it up a bit but wanted to share for any early opinions & or get feedback

Here are some things I'm still working on

1. combining all images into one folder for universal use

2. Fixing the POPULAR ARTIST section

3. Customize SALES section without standing out from the reset of page

- > changing pop- up

- > [insert feedback]

3. Create template for COMING Soon

I'm still working on some of these things and hopefully will get more by tomorrow night but wanted to ensure progress in my part
